State Income Tax Challenge Could Cost $90 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus husband and wife have filed a $90 million lawsuit against the State of Ohio, challenging state income tax laws that require them to file a joint return.

State law says couples with separate incomes who file a joint federal return must file a joint state return as well. The joint return usually means less federal tax, but a higher state tax.

Jack and Jo Ann Walker claim in their suit in U.S. District Court here that the law denies them equal protection under the law and violates their constitutional right to free association.

The suit, filed Monday, is a class action on behalf of all married couples who must file joint returns. It asks that the state be forced to refund each couple the difference between their joint tax and the tax they would pay if each person filed separately.

A spokesman for the Department of Taxation confirmed that this would total in the neighborhood of $90 million, about 25 per cent of total annual revenue from the tax.

The Walkers also ask in their suit that a three-judge panel be convened as soon as possible to issue temporary and permanent injunctions against the state to keep it from collecting any more taxes under the challenged provisions.

Taxation officials said that if a restraining order were issued they would have serious trouble complying without stopping income tax collections altogether.

The problem is that without individual returns, which haven't been filed yet, the state has no way of knowing which taxpayers plan to file joint returns and therefore could not stop withholding them unless it stopped withholding from everyone. "We'd have to try to identify them, but you can see what our problems would be," one official said.

The reasons the state would lose so much under a separate filing system is

Finances Bill Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of Congress would have to make annual public disclosure of their finances under legislation proposed today by Sens. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., and Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill.

It provides that senators and congressmen would have to report the amount and source of their income, assets and debts, financial transactions involving more than $5,000, and gifts exceeding $100.

Financial statements also would be required of congressional employees earning $22,000 or more a year.

Mathias and Stevenson, who held informal hearings last month on congressional reform, said in a statement that public disclosure is "the best medicine to restore the health of Congress' public image."

Numerous financial disclosure bills have been introduced in the past without getting anywhere.

2 Commissioners Named For State

Ohio House Panel Studies Gilligan Tax Sharing Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The House Finance Committee today began looking at Gov. John Gilligan's $92.3 million federal revenue sharing proposal.

The Ohio Supreme Court, meanwhile, during a skeleton House session Monday, put a second version of its rules for criminal procedure before the General Assembly.

The Gilligan administration proposes to use the state's initial allocation of federal revenue sharing funds for a wide range of capital improvements, which Gilligan said would preclude the need for a separate capital improvements bill until 1975.

that a couple's total income puts them in a higher tax bracket where the state's graduated income tax takes a larger chunk of it.

The federal tax is graduated too, but the federal tax system provides a separate table for couples who file jointly so that they pay less in most cases than they would if they filed separately.

The General Assembly did not consider such a separate table when it passed the state tax in 1971. Such a table, one official said, could cut the state's losses to $20 million or $30 million under a system in which couples had a choice of joint or separate returns.

Defendants in the Walkers' suit are Gov. John Gilligan, State Tax Commissioner Robert Kosydar, State Treasurer Gertrude Donahey and State Auditor Joseph Ferguson.

ROUNDTOWN

CHS student June Brudzinski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Brudzinski, 221 Walnut Creek Pike, has been selected by Mark Kelly, director of Bands at Bowling Green State University, to participate in the All Ohio Band.

The All Ohio Band will perform at BGSU Jan. 26 and Jan. 27. June was selected to represent CHS after submitting an application of her qualifications, which included the information that she received a superior rating at state solo and ensembles in 1972. She was chosen last year to receive the Outstanding Bandsman award by her local band.

PICKAWAY County Board of Elections reports that no one has sought petition for a place in May's primary election for city ward councilman or councilman-at-large.

All jobs will be up for grabs. Candidates have until Feb. 7 to request and file petitions. Also scheduled for the May ballot are five State Issues, with maybe more to come, according to election officials.

BOARD of Elections would like to remind citizens to complete and return registration cards sent them in the mail. Election workers have been weeding out certificates of persons who have not voted in two years and reminding them that they will be cancelled unless the board is otherwise notified.

HARRISON Street will be closed Wednesday at the Penn Central Railroad Tracks to permit installation of a storm sewer it was announced today by Atwood Jones, city service director. Jones said the city, Purina and the railroad are cooperating in a project to alleviate a drainage problem in the area.

THE Circleville Jaycees join over 300,000 Jaycees across the nation in observing National Jaycee Week Jan. 15-20. National Jaycee week provides the opportunity for the local organization to tell people of the community who they are and what they do. Local president Larry Eveland describes the purpose of the organization as leadership training through community involvement.

Young men of the community between the ages of 18 and 35 are given the opportunity to gain valuable experience by actively participating in projects for the betterment of the community. The local chapter is entering its 31st year of service to the community.

But the administration proposes to use $3.8 million of the federal funds for a one-year pilot project of state subsidies up to 50 per cent of bus and transit fares for an estimated 10 million elderly and handicapped riders each year in Ohio's big cities.

Transportation Director J. Phillip Richley, whose department would implement the plan, said it may be unique among state governments, and could serve a dual purpose of helping disadvantaged citizens and establishing a concept of state aid for Ohio's ailing mass transit systems. He said so far, the state has not provided the systems "with a dime."

SAIGON (AP)—A cease-fire will be declared by the United States and South Vietnam on the eve of President Nixon's inauguration Saturday to pave the way toward signing of a peace agreement to end the Indochina war, South Vietnamese sources said tonight.

Nixon was said to have advised President Nguyen Van Thieu that an international agreement has been reached to preclude further hostilities by North Vietnam, and to have told Thieu to "trust in me."

The unilateral cease-fire would be designed to set the stage for an exchange of prisoners and for the signing by the foreign ministers of the United States, North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Viet Cong of the peace settlement drafted at Paris, the informants said.

There was no clear understanding of whether Hanoi and the Viet Cong had agreed to the allied cease-fire. However, the sources, who have had access to discussions by Thieu and other top-level South Vietnamese leaders of the latest draft proposal, said concessions had been made by both sides on essential issues blocking the peace treaty.

These reports came after Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr. conferred for 2½ hours with Thieu on the draft proposal worked out by Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho in Paris.

Official sources said North Vietnam and the United States had agreed on the size of an international force to supervise the cease-fire. South Vietnamese sources said the new draft still left unresolved such basic Saigon demands as the withdrawal of all North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam and restoration of the demilitarized zone between the North and South. But progress toward agreement was reported on those also.

The U.S. Embassy indicated there would be further meetings between Haig and Thieu and said the schedule of President Nixon's special emissary was "open-ended."

There were unconfirmed reports from Vietnamese sources that Haig brought a personal letter from Nixon to Thieu. But political sources in Saigon and Washington indicated that the halt in all attacks on North Vietnam which began Monday was not only a sign of good faith to Hanoi but also a message to Thieu that Nixon considers a just agreement is within grasp and he is determined to conclude it.

Nixon ordered all offensive military operations across the entire territory of North Vietnam halted Monday night, citing progress in the negotiations between Kissinger and Tho last week.

Nixon's action, which the Florida White House termed a "unilateral gesture," gave momentum to new peace hopes and came amid a host of reports that an agreement to end the war would be signed soon.

The White House refused to discuss the reports of an agreement, saying instead that "negotiations are in progress" and Kissinger would return to Paris "in the relatively near future."

South Vietnamese sources said that among the provisions of the revised draft proposal being scrutinized by Thieu and Haig is one calling for an international force of about 3,000 men to supervise a cease-fire.

PRESIDENTIAL MOVE—President Nixon points as he talks to his adviser Henry Kissinger outside Nixon's Key Biscayne, Fla., home. At left is Gen. Alexander Haig. Following conferences on Kissinger's latest talks with North Vietnamese, Gen. Haig was dispatched to discuss the situation with governments in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

Vietnam War Stepped Up

SAIGON (AP)—Sharp fighting was reported today in contested areas at both ends of South Vietnam as Saigon's forces and the Communists battled to gain or hold territory in advance of a cease-fire.

U.S. air support for South Vietnamese ground forces continued following President Nixon's order suspending all bombing and other offensive operations against North Vietnamese territory.

U. S. planes also continued combat operations in Laos and Cambodia, the U.S. Command said.

South Vietnamese military spokesmen reported a slight increase in Communist attacks in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. but there was also a significant quickening of activity on the part of Saigon's forces, military sources said.

The heaviest engagements reported by spokesmen were in the Que Son Valley southwest of Da Nang, where 35

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were claimed to have been killed, and on the eastern edge of the Mekong Delta's U Minh Forest. Government forces there lost 19 killed and 35 wounded while at least 52 enemy troops were slain, a military communique said.

Both of these areas have been the scene of increasing activity in the past week as the South Vietnamese tried to regain some of the territory that was lost or remains contested from the Communists' 1972 offensive.

Fighting also continued in Quang Tri province just below the demilitarized zone, where delayed field reports said South Vietnamese marines trying to secure ground north of the Thach Han River were driven back by an attack Sunday. There was no report on casualties in the action.

Military sources said some of the fighting also resulted from South Vietnamese spoiling operations aimed at preventing the Communists from scoring gains before a cease-fire.

In one major South Vietnamese army push in the Saigon River corridor 35 to 40 miles northwest of Saigon, ground contact was reported at a slow pace with only scattered casualties on each side. The U.S. Command reported an Army AH1 Cobra helicopter gunship shot down by Communist fire while flying in support of that operation but both crewmen escaped with minor wounds.

January Thaw Warms Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A January thaw warmed almost the entire nation today.

A pocket of subzero weather was trapped in the central Rockies, but most areas were above freezing and clear skies were abundant.

Dense fog blanketed the western Gulf Coast, and there were patches of fog in the Plateau region. Light rain fell from the northern Rockies to the central Pacific coast, and clouds covered the Pacific Coast states and the northeastern quarter of the nation.

Students At Tiny High School Build Their Own Airplane

ASH FORK, Ariz. (AP)—Last year high school pupils in this northern Arizona community of 900 built a two-bedroom house and sold it.

This year, they're aiming even higher. They're building an airplane and hope to fly it.

"I'm teaching these kids to survive," says School Supt. Bill Roark. "We want to keep these kids off the welfare rolls and also let them take a look at more of the world than Ash Fork offers them."

The aircraft being constructed under the direction of Lloyd Eash isn't a model. It's a fullsize, fabric-covered plane complete with two seats and an 80 horsepower engine.

Five junior and senior pupils are working on the plane for class credit. Eash and the Federal Aviation Administration are keeping a close eye on them.

"The whole point is to establish a variety of salable skills since many of the students are not college bound," said Roark.

But once the aircraft—which Roark says will cost $2,500—is built, it won't be sold.

"We'll teach kids to fly the same as we teach them to drive," he said, adding that next year's project calls for building a larger, metal-frame airplane.

The plane is beginning to take shape in the school's industrial arts shop, with the plywood fuselage dominating the room and wing and tail sections tucked away in nooks and crannies, and Roark said the pupils hope to finish it before school closes for the summer.

Peter Bowers of Seattle, Wash., the designer of the aircraft, will be at the controls on the maiden flight, Roark said.

Twenty-four Ash Fork pupils under Roark's direction completed a two-bedroom frame house last year and sold it for $8,000 to a land-development firm. Roark said the actual cost of the home was a $1,750 loan and a lot of donated material.

Russian Moon Rover At Work

MOSCOW (AP)—An unmanned Soviet spaceship made a soft landing on the moon today and put out a 1,848-pound moon rover that sent television pictures back to the earth, Tass announced.

The Soviet news agency said the spaceship, Luna 21, landed on the eastern fringe of the Sea of Serenity, inside the Lemnognier Crater, at 1:35 a.m., or 5:35 p.m. EST Monday.

The self-propelled Lunokhod 2 rolled down the gangway to the lunar surface at 4:14 a.m., Tass reported. Lunokhod 2 moved about, its running gear and control systems were checked by the ground crew, and "television pictures of the landing stage and the lunar landscape were received," Tass said.

Lunokhod 2 will continue the work of Lunokhod 1, a 1,663-pound moon vehicle that spent 10 months exploring the lunar surface in 1970-71, Tass said.

Like Lunokhod 1, Lunokhod 2 had aboard a French "corner reflector" supplied under the Soviet-French agreement on cooperation in exploration in outer space. The announcement said this would continue experiments in fixing the moon's location more accurately by laser readings.

Tass said Lunokhod 2 will remain stationary until Thursday, recharging its chemical power supply with the help of a solar battery. Then it will go ahead with its program.

other cities.

The Supreme Court's proposed new rules of criminal procedure went into the House, the same place where they obtained their first setback last year. The Senate later followed through with a similar objection.

At the time, the legislature was irked with the court for knocking two of its proposed constitutional amendments off the May, 1972, ballot. The court said, among other things, they were poorly drafted.

The legislature was also under heavy lobbying from bail bondsmen, who objected to relaxed provisions for letting defendants out of jail on their own recognizance.

Under the latest version, the court modified its stand somewhat upon bail. It still allows a judge to decide whether a defendant should put up a cash bond.

A policeman who objects to a defendant being released on his own recognizance must submit his objection in writing. The judge can then release him on a bail schedule established by courts in the area.

If the defendant is a repeater, the judge could hold a separate hearing to determine what bond is necessary.

Chief Justice C. William O'Neill said the proposed rules would "unify and simplify" criminal procedure. The rules would favor the use of summons instead of arrest in minor cases.

At the same time it submitted its new version of the criminal rules, the court offered "corrective amendments" to appellate, civil and juvenile rules the legislature let go into effect last July.

"The purpose of the rules is to improve the quality of criminal justice administered in Ohio courts and to expedite the trial of those accused of crime," O'Neill said.

O'Neill said the rules, if adopted, would complement the recently-passed criminal code. Among legislative complaints against the rules last year was one that the court didn't listen to 51 amendments offered by the legislature.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices faltered a bit today as continuing worries over the impact Phase 3 will have on the economy erased encouraging news from Vietnam.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.46 to 1022.13, and declines outnumbered advances on the New York Stock Exchange by almost 2-to-1. Trading was fairly active.

The broad-based NYSE index of some 1,400 common stocks was off .37 to 64.05 at noon, while the price-change index on the American Stock Exchange was off .03 to 26.36.

Chrysler, the Big Board's most-active issue, fell 1/8 to 39 1/2 after announcing it was recalling about 6,000 cars to correct possible safety defects.

Board Drops Lukens Case

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Unless they receive other directions from Secretary of State Ted Brown, Butler County Elections board members said they are finished with the case of State Sen. Donald "Buz" Lukens.

Lukens of nearby Middletown has been disqualified from seeking an elective post in the state for five years unless he can prove he filed his campaign expense account for his new post by the Dec. 22 deadline.

He claimed he mailed the account before the deadline, but the board of elections said it didn't receive one. The board did confirm receipt of an account which Lukens said he mailed Jan. 2.

Board member John Moser said Lukens had not filed an appeal with the board, despite reports he would do so.

Secretary of State Ted Brown said Lukens' contention that a mail delivery mixup caused him to miss the filing deadline would be a matter for the courts.

Mrs. Meir Continues Diplomacy

JERUSALEM (AP) — Continuing a diplomatic offensive, Premier Golda Meir is flying to Switzerland from Rome today for a meeting with President Felix Houphouet-Boigny of the Ivory Coast.

The purpose of the meeting is to bolster Israel's sagging position in Africa, where three previously friendly governments have broken diplomatic relations with Israel recently.

The trip to Switzerland is the second event of Mrs. Meir's European visit that was not previously announced. When she left Israel, the only thing on her schedule was an international meeting of Socialist leaders in Paris.

Then last weekend came the announcement that she would go on to Rome, where she met Italian leaders and had an audience with Pope Paul VI Monday.

It was believed that the whole itinerary was arranged before she left Israel but the Rome and Geneva visits were kept secret as a precaution against Arab terrorists.

Israel has extensive commercial links with the Ivory Coast and regards it as a staunch friend. Mrs. Meir was expected to seek reassurance that nothing is undermining Israel's position there and also to sound out Houphouet-Boigny about the possibility of using his influence on Israel's behalf with other African leaders.

Jazzman Ellington Is Hospitalized

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jazz musician Duke Ellington is hospitalized here with a virus infection that doctors attribute in part to his rigorous schedule.

Ellington, 72, was hospitalized last Wednesday with London flu shortly after he completed taping of a television special in his honor.

In conjunction with the presentation of these records, the library will host a special program on folk dancing this Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. It will be presented by Bill Stewart, who is the leader of the World-Wide Folk Dancers of Columbus. Mr. Stewart has been active in folk dancing programs and restivals in Central Ohio since 1960.

He and eleven other dancers will demonstrate a series of International Folk Dances. They will be wearing native Germanic Costumes.

This program is free. It is open to both adults and children, and will provide a very entertaining and educational evening.

In other action Monday, the board accepted the resignations of Mrs. Karen Roush, high school French-English teacher and Sue Faber, bus driver.

Employed to replace Mrs. Roush was Mrs. Barbara Distelhorst, effective Jan. 22. Becky Downs has already begun her duties as bus driver, replacing Mrs. Faber.

The board approved requests for leaves of absence for Mrs. Kathy Dikeman, Jan. 22-26; a sixth grade teacher at Darby, and Mrs. Shirley Dean, Jan. 17 through April 17, a cook at Jackson School.

The board approved liability insurance for board members from Republican Franklin Insurance Co.

A supplementary contract to coach girls high school basketball was offered to Pam Hoffman, fourth grade teacher at Jackson School. Use of the Jackson auditorium for a Cub Scout meeting Jan. 31 was approved.

The substitute teacher list as recommended by the county superintendent's office was approved. Kenneth Reid, clerk, was authorized to seek an advance draw of tax monies from the county auditor.

A resolution was approved to add an hour after school for driver training instruction in order to take care of the backlog of requests by students for the training.

Present at he board meeting were: Mrs. Jeanne Lett, president; Cooke Metzger, James Dean, Bruce Stevenson Jr., David Long, board members; Kenneth Reid, the clerk; Gordon Massie, Westfall District superintendent; Jack Leaker, assistant county superintendent.

Marathon To Underwrite 'Tecumseh' Production

The Scioto Society has received notification from James Wilkens, promotion manager of the Marathon Oil Corporation, that Marathon will underwrite the Tecumseh production it was announced today by Rusty Mundell.

The oil company will print 1,500,000 full color brochures for distribution throughout Ohio and eastern Indiana. It will further consider advertising through the media. The discussion on the possibilities of a grant are still continuing, Mundell stated.

In return, Marathon receives exclusive oil company rights for the production. Other plans not yet disclosed are under discussion with Marathon.

William Campbell, Alencia, Calif., is in Chillicothe with the Scioto Society as a marketing analyst. He will be here for three weeks. Campbell was with Magic Mountain and the Ice Follies where he handled the personal promotion of Peggy Flemming.

He will be working directly with the newly appointed administrative director of business affairs for the society, Miss Linda Friedman, on group sales, market analysis of the area and the premier scheduled June 30. Additionally, Omar Lerman of Equity, New York City, will be here early next month for a 3-day visit on audience development.

First auditions for Tecumseh will be held at Mt. Logan room of Holiday Inn, Chillicothe, beginning 9:30 a.m. Jan. 27. Anyone desiring to audition at that time should write for an audition application to Scioto Society Inc., Box 73, Chillicothe.

Bids Opened For Two Cars For Sheriff

Harden Chevrolet was the apparent low bidder for two cruisers for the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. The bids were opened in the county commissioners office Monday.

The only other bidder was Joe Moats Motor Sales. One of the new cruisers will be an unmarked car. The other will replace a car involved in an accident on the Lancaster Pike last fall.

Commissioners Wayne Hines, Dick T. Tootle and Robert Liston set 10 a.m. Feb. 6 as the date and time for the viewing of a ditch improvement in Deercreek Twp. requested by Roy Anderson and others.

A hearing on the ditch will be held 10 a.m. Feb. 21 in the commissioners office.

County Engineer Henry McCrady submitted his road program to commissioners and it was approved. The engineer's office will advertise for bids for materials. The bids will be received until noon Feb. 5 and opened at 1:30 p.m.

Fremont Native Chosen Mayor

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—A 64-year-old Fremont native who has never held an elected position before has been named mayor of this city of 18,500 after all seven members of the City Council declined the job.

Walter Oxley, a retired insurance agent, succeeds George Demmel, who died Dec. 31.

The Fremont mayor's salary is $8,500 but will increase to $9,500 in 1976. Oxley said he intends to run for the unexpired two years of Demmel's term in a special election later this year.

Braves Control Second LE Holiday Tournament

By CINDY MATHEWS

The second annual LE Holiday Tournament was held Dec. 28 and 29. Participating teams in the tournament were Amanda Clearcreek, Zane Trace, Westfall, and Logan Elm. The Spangler Gymnasium was packed, and the crowd saw some thrilling basketball displayed.

In first round action, Amanda Clearcreek beat Zane Trace 65-63, and Logan Elm stopped Westfall 78-63 in game number 2 to move on to the championship round.

The Braves led the Mustangs through the entire game and won easily. The score at the end of the periods was 17-12, 43-25, and 53-39 with LE in control. Tom Sykes led the Braves' attack with 28 points. Steve Sargent added 19, Tim Justice 15, Stu Jones 4, Terry Crumley 3, Doug Marshall, Jay Justice, Brad Luckhart and Marty Fullen each had 2, and Mike Holbrook added 1.

In the second night competition, LE beat the Amanda Clearcreek Aces 72-65 to capture the championship. Zane Trace defeated Westfall 58-46 in the consolation game to gain a 3rd place finish.

The Braves played another hard and exciting game. The scores at the end of the quarters were 26-13, 49-30, and 55-44 with LE in the lead. The game was much closer than the score indicates, as Amanda gained the lead at 61-60 with only about three minutes left in the game.

Tom Sykes paced all scorers with 26 points. Tim Justice added 16, Steve Sargent hooped 13, Stu Jones had 9, Mike Holbrook 5, Rick Jones 2, and Brad Luckhart had 1.

After the final game of the tournament, team coaches and members of the press and radio selected a most valuable player and all-tournament squad. Tom Sykes was selected as most valuable player, and Tim Justice, Barry DeLong of Zane Trace, Virgil Strickler of Amanda Clearcreek, and Rex Riddle of Amanda Clearcreek were named to the all-tournament team.

The Reserve Christmas Tournament, held in the afternoons of Dec. 28 and 29 ended in the same results as the varsity.

In the first round Thursday afternoon, Amanda won over Zane Trace 40-29, and LE defeated Westfall 50-31. Scott Pontius led LE with 14 points, and Mitch Martin added 13.

In second round action Logan Elm beat Amanda 54-28, and Zane Trace won over Westfall 38-26. The Braves controlled the entire game, leading 12-6, 30-19, and 40-23 at the end of the periods. Mitch Martin was leading scorer in the game with 16 points followed by Brian Barr and Joe Stump with 9 points each.

Nader's Forces

Join Press Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph Nader's forces have joined the National Press Club in an effort to help news reporters gain access to information withheld by the government.

A Press Information Center is being organized by the press club and Nader's Center for Study of Responsive Law, an announcement said Sunday.

The announcement said a reporter needs "more information than the government chooses to release, and he must challenge the government's withholding of information."

Meet The President Of NHS

PAUL BAILEY

By VANESSA MILLS

This week we meet Paul Bailey, who is president of the Logan Elm Chapter of the National Honor Society. The Honor Society members promote leadership, service, character, and scholarship.

Members are tapped into Honor Society during an impressive candlelight service in the spring of every year. Only junior and senior students with a certain grade average are eligible to be tapped.

Paul is 17 years old. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bailey and resides at Route 1, Circleville. As president of Honor Society, he is already making plans for this spring's tapping service.

Paul also belongs to the Bowling Club and lists science projects and chess as his hobbies. While his likes include vacations, Elton John records and women, Paul's dislikes are Advanced Comp., the entire French language, exams and school lunches.

After graduation, Paul plans to attend Ohio State University to study biochemistry.

The advisor of the Honor Society is Mrs. Mills. Other officers are: Pam Kempton-vice president; Carla Hobbles-secretary; Cindy Norton-treasurer; Cathy Jones-chaplain; Vanessa Mills-news reporter; and Steve DeBruin-sergeant at arms.

Newsstaff Picks Eight For Senior Spotlight

By CARLA HOBBLE

Eight seniors are being featured this week.

Joyce DeLong, 17, resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred DeLong at Route 1, Kingston.

She was the 1972 Homecoming Queen and is a varsity cheerleader, GAA treasurer, and secretary of the Student Council. She is a member of the Pep Club, Elm Log Staff, Drill Team, Skandha Staff, Grange, and the United Methodist Church where she is a Sunday School Teacher.

Joyce lists her mom and dad, Tim, laughing, and Washington D.C. as her likes. She dislikes the Vietnam War and discrimination.

Joyce plans to get a degree in elementary education at Ohio University after graduation from Logan Elm.

Barbara Baylous, 17, lives at Route 1, Kingston, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Baylous. She is a member of the Pep Club, GAA, NHS, concert and stage bands, head typist for the Elm Log, 4-H, Jr. Fairboard, and Rainbow Girls.

Barb's likes include snow, being outside, all sports, shopping, baking, watching T.V., the color purple, cheerful people, and the song, "Sweet Surrender." Snobby people and rain are her dislikes.

Following graduation Barb plans to possibly attend a business college and obtain a secretarial job.

Melanie Maxson, 17, resides at Route 4, Circleville, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Maxson. She is active in the Muskrats, GAA, art, chairman of the Pep Club, Skandha, Jr. Leader, 4-H, and secretary of the Kingston MYF.

Melanie likes mushrooms, snow, weekends, being with Jamie, and the song, "Melanie Makes me Smile." Her dislikes include second period government, boring school days, people who you can't have fun with, and people who are stuck on themselves.

Melanie's plan after graduation is to go to a secretarial college or to get a job.

Debbie Maxson, 17, lives with Mr. and Mrs. George Maxson, at Route 1, Kingston. Her activities include varsity cheerleader, Pep Club, Drill Team, president of GAA, business manager of the Elm Log, Skandha Staff, member of the Adelpi United Methodist Church, and president of the MYF.

Debbie's likes include cheering, sports, going to movies, and her family and friends. She dislikes boring weekends, unfriendly people, and snowflakes biting her big toe.

Debbie plans to attend Capital University in the fall to major in Business Education.

Mike Holbrook, 17, lives at Route 1, Circleville, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Holbrook. His activities include varsity basketball, varsity baseball, president of the Varsity Club, and FCA.

Mike likes Debbie, sports, and pizza. He dislikes rainy days and school.

After graduation, Mike plans to attend college.

Seventeen-year-old Brent Luckhart resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Luckhart, at Route 1, Laurelville. He is active as vice-president of the varsity club, the varsity football team, varsity track, and a Farm Bureau member.

Brent's likes include most sports, attending drag races, building and putting together models, and attending tractor pulls. School and homework are his only dislikes.

Brent plans to attend Columbus Technical School to study aviation technology.

Tom Sykes, 17, lives at Route 5, Circleville, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sykes. He is active in varsity basketball, varsity track, and vice president of the Student Council.

Tom lists track and basketball as his likes. He dislikes being told how to dress. His plans for the future are undecided.

Mike Williams, 18, resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Williams at 210 Pawnee Drive in Logan Elm Village. He was co-captain of the 1972 varsity football team.

Shooting pool, football, watching basketball games and Pam are Mike's likes. His dislikes include tests, Monday, and snobbish people.

Following graduation, Mike plans to attend General Motors Institute.

A Page Of Opinion

Mars Mapped For First Humans

When humans set foot on the planet Mars—which will likely be some years from now—they will have a detailed map of the planet's surface with them. Cartographers have put together a mosaic of photographs taken by Mariner 9 to form a complete map of Mars.

The map is an important milestone in the advancement of space science, and proof of what can be accomplished by unmanned satellites. The photographic study of Mars is the first such comprehensive pictorial exploration of any planet. The success of Mariner 9 guarantees similar efforts will be made with other planets as the subjects.

What made the Mars photographic experience so successful were the techniques used to interpret what turned out to be badly distorted photographs. Poor lighting on the surface of the planet, a lack of contrasting colors, a hazy atmosphere and swirling dust storms, varying trajectories of the cameras—all added up to "incredibly lousy material," in the words of one space official. Yet the photographs were composed into a map by computers and highly complex reference data. As a result, such features as a volcano measuring 300 miles in width, 10½ miles high and capped by a 40-mile-wide crater were captured in total detail.

Living Longer

If Dr. Osler were still around he would be badly upset by the prediction that during the next two decades there will be a big increase in the number of old persons. Even if the birth rate declines the population of the U.S. will reach 225 million before 1985.

It was Dr. Osler who advocated chloroforming men at the age of 40 years, on the ground that they had passed their time of usefulness and were only excess population. An increase of the number of oldsters in the population will bring about many changes in the nation's economy.

By the year 2,000 the world may have an additional 3 billion human beings. Many countries already have about all the inhabitants they can feed under the present world-wide disinclination of people to work.

Population increases may create a serious problem for old Mother Earth—the problem of how to feed her growing family.

Newsmen's Sources

By JEFFREY HART

In Connecticut a bill has been introduced that would shelter journalists from the obligation to testify about their sources, and varying measures to the same end are being considered elsewhere. The entire discussion, however, has so far been structured as a kind of melodrama: those who wish to bring the facts before the public versus those who — malevolently, selfishly — wish to conceal them.

No doubt there is some truth in this view, but, at bottom, the contest between the government and the journalists is, like most things, a power struggle. It is the underlying aim of the government not so much to suppress facts as to break the informal power the journalists themselves possess to select what facts to present and how to present them: i.e., the government is challenging the journalists' own power to censor the news.

And this particular power struggle has become tense just at this time because of the ideological hostility between many of the media and the Nixon Administration.

If "getting at the facts" were really the central issue, the courts themselves would have the strongest case. After all, newsmen have already served some time because the courts insisted on knowing all "the facts" there were to know. This the newsmen resisted.

But the issue is really much more intricate. Consider two possible scenarios:

Suppose New York Times reporter A receives a leak from discontented White House aide B which reveals the conservative Senator C is in a financial scandal. Here the scenario is simple and predictable. The reporter prints all, ruins the career of C, applies for his Pulitzer Prize, and, if the courts insist on ferreting out the identity of B, spends some time in jail, and then goes on the campus lecture circuit.

Suppose, however some dimension of the scandal, perhaps not centrally but off at the margin, seems to involve, for example, Senator Kennedy. Then the Times reporter himself faces the decision on whether or not to ventilate that fact. He may or may not publish it; his decision may or may not be ideologically motivated. But he has the power to censor the news.

A further factor is involved. During the last 20 years, the number of major newspapers in the country has sharply declined. Where a major city once was served by a half dozen papers, it very likely now has only one or two. Competing viewpoints no longer provide a built-in corrective to ideological censorship.

In this context, when a Federal prosecutor or a grand jury demands access to a newsmen's sources, notes, tapes or what-not, the thing that is really being challenged is his monopoly of control over the raw data. The government, not unreasonably, suspects that control of being exercised in ways that are ideologically slanted against it.

Newsmen, for their part, reasonably reply that their efforts will be seriously hampered unless they can protect their sources.

Since this is fundamentally a power struggle, and not an issue of principle — let alone a constitutional issue — it will probably end in a tacit practical trade-off. The media, at least temporarily, will become a bit less ideological; the judges and prosecutors, while watchful, will not insist so sternly on getting behind the presentation to the sources and the raw data.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Jan. 16, the 16th day of 1973. There are 349 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1920, the 18th Amendment of the United States Constitution went into effect. Prohibition became law.

On this date:

In 1778, France recognized the independence of the United States.

In 1815, Portugal's South American colony of Brazil became a kingdom.

In 1883, the U.S. Civil service was formed.

In 1893, U.S. Marines landed in Hawaii to restore order in a revolution in which the islands' monarchy was overthrown.

In 1942, screen star Carole Lombard and 21 others were killed in a plane crash near Las Vegas, Nev.

In 1971, the Swiss ambassador to Brazil, Giovanni Enrico Bucher, was released in Rio de Janeiro after being held by kidnapers for 40 days.

Ten years ago: It was announced that President John F. Kennedy would visit Italy.

Five years ago: In an economy move, Britain ended its 150-year military role, scrapped an order for U.S. bombers and cut social services at home.

One year ago: President Anwar Sadat of Egypt named Dr. Aziz Sidky as premier to head a new Cabinet.

Today's birthdays: Musical comedy star Ethel Merman is 64. Auto racer A.J. Foyt is 39.

Thought for today: Prohibition makes you want to cry into your beer, and denies you the beer to cry into—Don Marquis, American journalist and humorist, 1878-1937.

"My mouth IS open!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Ever since I was a child, I recall that all our illnesses were blamed on anemia.

If we caught cold often, or if we slept badly, it was because we were "anemic."

Now, as the mother of two girls, I find myself similarly blaming "anemia." Would you explain anemia to all of us?

Mrs. J.S.D., Wis.

Dear Mrs. D.:

Anemia has always been a diffuse classification into which many symptoms would be lumped without real medical justification.

There should be no guesswork about anemia because the number of red blood cells that circulate in the blood stream can be accurately counted. Deficiencies, therefore, can be readily recognized and measured.

A few facts about the blood might give a better comprehension of the total picture of anemia.

The normal number of red blood cells in a cubic millimeter of blood is about 5 million in men and about 4½ million in women.

The red blood cells are normally manufactured in the bone marrow and are constantly being replenished.

Each red blood cell lasts about two or three months and then, having exhausted its function, is destroyed in the spleen.

Under the microscope, the size and the shape of the red blood cells are indicative of their health.

The amount of hemoglobin carried by these cells is one indicator of the absence or presence of one of the many types of anemia.

When anemia is suspected, many intricate studies can establish a diagnosis and point the way for a cure.

A sudden loss of blood can, of course, produce an anemia which can be rectified by a replacement of that blood.

Some anemias are due to an inadequate production of the blood cells. Some chronic diseases of the intestinal tract, for example, may be responsible for anemia.

Iron plays an important role in anemia. Diets with inadequate iron content or the inability of the body to absorb iron can be responsible for anemia.

Pernicious anemia is caused by deficiency of a special "intrinsic factor" in the stomach juices.

A special type of anemia is caused by the failure of the blood marrow to replenish red blood cells.

Similarly, there are some diseases that tend to destroy red blood cells, leaving an inadequate amount in the blood stream.

These facts are but a fraction of the many others involved in the total story of anemia.

The homemade label of "anemia" has no validity. It must not be used to explain away fatigue, listlessness, irritability, lack of appetite, frequency of colds, poor concentration and the many vague symptoms of daily living.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNEIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Phase 3 may be a different sort of animal than it appears. On examining its terms one cannot really say what kind of creature it will develop into — whether it will parry like a cat or trample like a horse.

It appears at the moment to be somewhere between mandatorism and voluntarism. Little really has been scrapped except some regulations and bureaucracy. The powers over wages and prices are there to be used.

And that is why it is difficult to predict how the creature will grow. Presumably, the President can use the threat of action to gain his will. But he can act directly too. And he can choose his targets. It's his choice.

To describe the new formula as voluntary and let it go at that is misleading. It suggests that the choice is that of the people, of the wage earners and managers, and that if they are responsible they will use restraint.

In a limited sense that is true. But much of the voluntary nature of Phase 3 relates to the administration and whether or not it decides to act — and when and where. In effect, whether it chooses to use the stick in the closet.

It is clear that there still are controls, that the administration is still deeply involved in the marketplace, and that it can still step in and demand its way in wage-price matters.

There has been a reduction of the bureaucratic complications, the red tape, the frustrating record-keeping, and in some sense the fear. To that degree, business and labor have been relieved of a psychological burden.

This relief could have its immediate result in providing elements of the economy with the desire to seek growth, and economic growth is a requirement if certain inflationary demands are to be avoided.

As many people understand, inflation can attack from two directions. If costs exceed profits then prices are pushed higher and restraints must be imposed. If production cannot keep pace with demand, prices are pulled up.

It is widely believed that the shedding of some regulatory complications will give business a greater degree of freedom to expand, or at least keep pace with demand, and thus lessen the inflation threat from that direction.

But by that same move, some of the pricing restraints come off, too. No matter that the United States has cut its inflation rate to near 3.5 per cent, or nearly one-half that of most industrial nations, there are costpush inflationary pressures at work.

The gigantic leap in wholesale prices during December, even though it may have been a one-month freak of nature and statistics, demonstrates how volatile, how potentially explosive is the inflation situation today.

Dentists Shift

Emphasis From

Candy Bar Ban

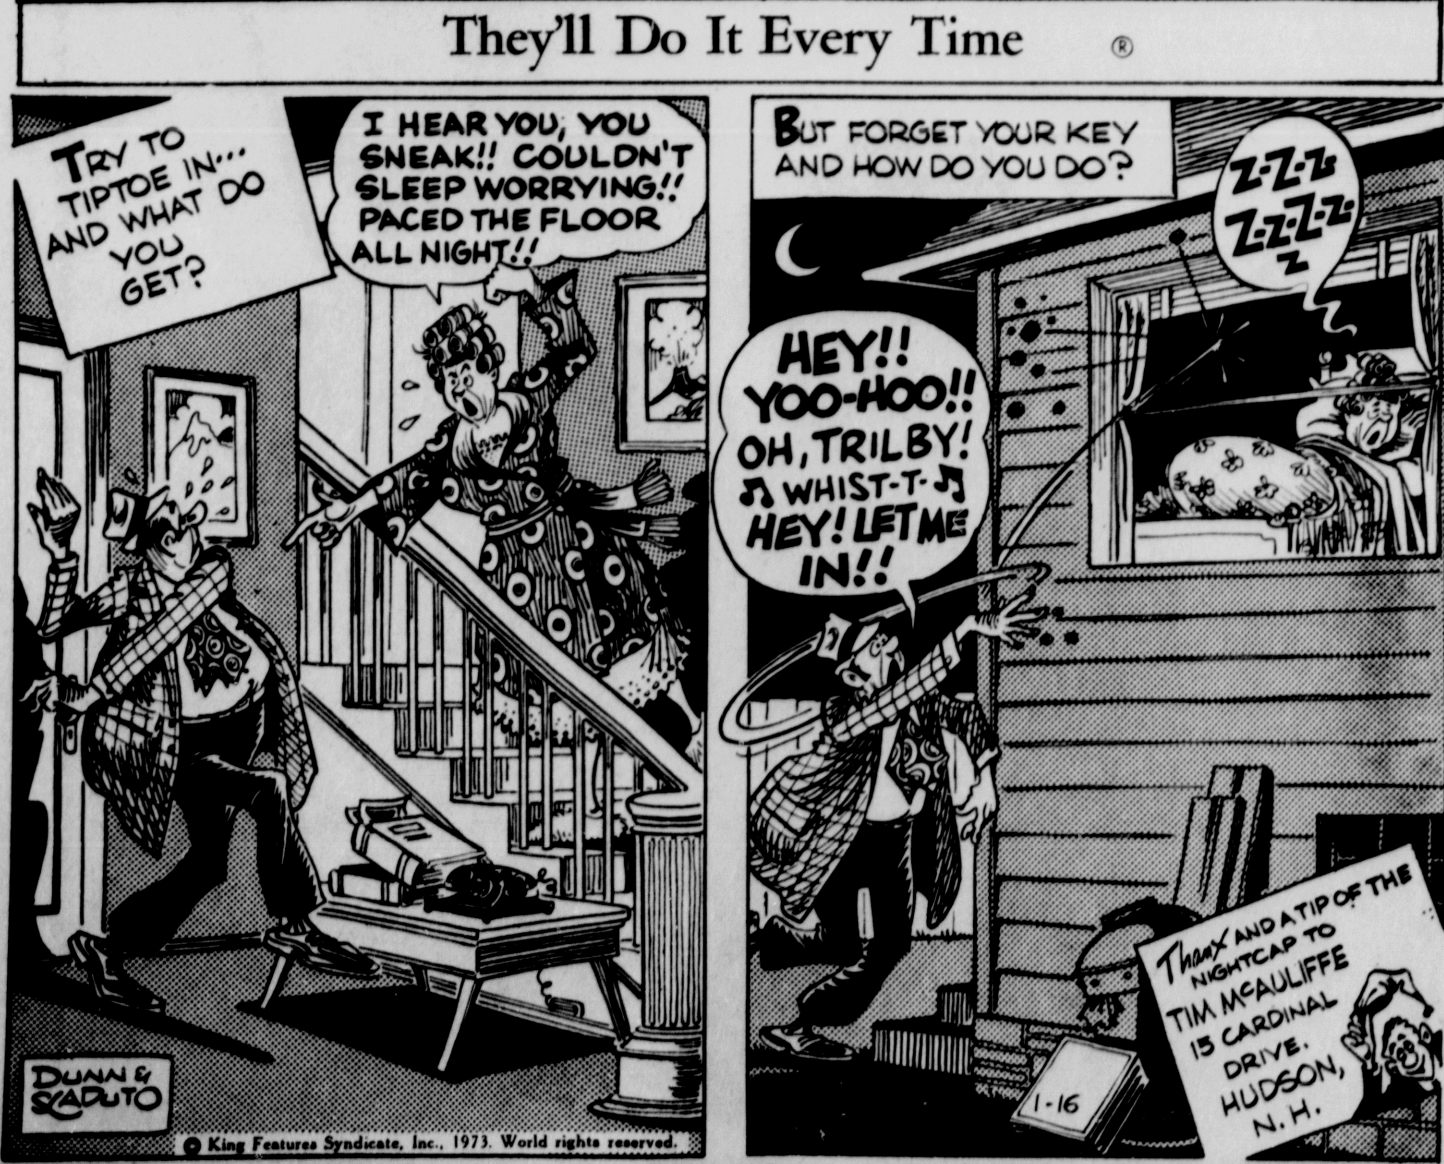

DALLAS (AP) — The candy bar, long a stalwart on dentists' lists of most-unwanted foods, may become an approved item.

So thinks Dr. Jack Anderson, head of the Minnesota Chapter of the American Society for Preventive Dentistry and former president of the American Society of Dentistry for Children.

Dr. Anderson, here for this week's annual convention of the Dallas Dental Society, said the growing acceptance of candy bars and other "sweet treats" is a recent development in his profession.

"The realization that food serves an emotional need finally has led dentists to new methods of fighting tooth decay," Anderson said, adding that the greatest stress these days is on preventive dentistry, beginning at age 1, rather than on corrective dentistry.

The young of the manta are born alive.

Young Woman Gets Chance To Be Navy Pilot

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Many girls get their first job experience taking care of other people's babies. But one of the candidates for the Navy's first group of eight female pilots says she started working at age 16 washing other people's airplanes.

Rosemary Merims, 19, San Diego, Calif., will take her first flight in a Navy plane Tuesday, after a swearing-in ceremony at Sky Harbor Airport here.

The recent Purdue University graduate said, "I've been interested in flying for as long as I can remember.

When I was old enough to work, I washed airplanes for a Piper dealer in San Diego in exchange for flight time."

Miss Merims learned to fly before she was completely at home behind the wheel of a car.

After high school, she enrolled at Purdue with a major in professional pilot technology. With 650 hours flight time already logged, she has taken tests in place of some flight courses, and she spent her vacations in school so she could graduate this May—one year early. But the Navy's announcement two months ago that it would accept female pilot candidates sent her scurrying to get her bachelor of science degree right away.

"I spent Christmas vacation writing papers and studying for exams," she said. "I've also spent a lot of time trying to chase down professors." She succeeded in testing out of 10 class hours—two campus courses and two airport courses—to officially earn her degree last month. It took her just two and one-half years to complete the four-year program, and she left Purdue with a B-minus grade index.

"I was somewhat flabbergasted when the Navy said it was going to be taking women pilots," she said. "I went down to the recruiting office in November and decided to go ahead with processing, gambling that they would take civilians." She won her gamble.

Tuesday will be the first step toward earning her Navy wings. "The flight program usually is six years in total," she said, beginning with training at the women Officer's Training School in Newport, R.I. If she successfully completes that phase, she will go on to actual pilot training.

"I'm not sure, but I understand we will be limited to transport aircraft or helicopters and to areas within the continental United States," Miss Merims said. She readily admitted the pay would be better in the commercial flying business. "But that kind of flying—even though I wouldn't turn it down—tends to become mundane over the years," she said. "This is the kind of opportunity that comes only once. I'll probably make the Navy a career."

She knows a career pilot eventually will pilot a desk instead of an airplane, but that doesn't bother her. "I think they rotate you. They let you fly for six years, then put you behind a desk for two years."

"That's another advantage to the Navy. They give you a chance to learn to manage other people."

That's a field she's also familiar with. Miss Merims is not only a fully-rated pilot, but she is also a flight instructor.

The teacher-student role may be reversed, however, when she takes her first Navy flight. "I'm not sure whether I'll be flying or taking a ride," she said.

She's never been in a Navy trainer plane, so a Navy pilot will have to accompany her.

Saltcreek Grange Plans 'Birthday'

Saltcreek Valley Grange will have the first of three birthday parties scheduled for 1973, at the regular meeting tonight. The guests at this first celebration will be those members born in October, November, December or January. All other members will furnish refreshments of sandwiches or cookies.

The program for the evening will center around a typical birthday party, as arranged by the lecturer, Paul Dunkle.

The batfish apparently walks on the bottom instead of swimming through water.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Natural Childbirth Is Your Own Decision

DEAR ABBY: I am pregnant for the first time and a neighbor of mine is trying to talk me into having my baby the "natural" way. She said she took this course at the "Y" in her sixth month, and learned some breathing exercises and muscle control, and had her baby without taking even an asperin. She said there was some pain, but not nearly as bad as she thought it would be. Also, her husband took the course, too, and he stayed with her during the labor and delivery, which made it a shared experience.

I am undecided as to whether to have my baby the natural way or not. My husband says I'm crazy to suffer any pain at all if I can avoid it, and I'm inclined to agree with him.

On the other hand, if your husband is right there and sees what you have to go through, it might make him appreciate you more. Please be honest. My doctor says it's up to me.

DEBBIE

DEAR DEBBIE: It is up to you to decide whether you want to grin and bear it, or take an anesthetic. (The proponents of the "grin and bear it" method swears by it.) As I see it, childbirth will be a truly "shared experience" only when a couple has twins—the wife giving birth to one and her husband giving birth to one and her husband giving birth to the other.

DEAR ABBY: All my life I have been worried about what other people think, but now that I've reached middle age, I have decided not to be bothered by these bugaboos, and I must say it's a great feeling.

I recently married for the third time. It all happened very fast, but I'm sure this time I've found the right man. Instead of sending the conventional formal marriage announcement, we had our marriage license photographed and printed, and we sent copies to our friends to let them know we are married. We certainly enjoyed the different reactions.

Some people thought we had sent them our original license, and even mailed it back to us. Others thought we just wanted to prove we weren't "shaking up" (which isn't a bad idea nowadays to prove it, I mean.) One man thought someone was trying to force HIM into marriage and it gave him a good scare. A few thought it was in "poor taste", but most of our friends said they always suspected I was nuts, and I finally confirmed it.

LOIS IN SONOMA

DEAR LOIS: It's different.

DEAR ABBY: You would be doing a lot of hard of hearing people a tremendous service if you would explain the following in your column: The hard of hearing wear hearing aids

Nonsmokers Get Effects Of Cigarettes

CHICAGO (AP) — There are additional findings that somebody else's smoking may be hazardous to your health.

A physician writing in the Jan. 15 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association deals with the possibility in response to a question from another physician.

Dr. Donald A. Dukelow of the AMA's department of education was asked: "Is there evidence to support recent claims that a nonsmoker with an all-day exposure to a smoke-filled room inhales as much smoke as though he himself had smoked a pack of cigarettes?"

Dukelow told the inquirer his "concern about the hazard of exposure to a smoke-filled room is supported" and cited several studies of the effects of cigarette smoke on nonsmokers.

One study cited found that smoking cigarettes in a closed room soon makes the concentration of nicotine and dust particles so high that the nonsmoker inhales as much harmful tobacco byproducts as a smoker inhales from four or five cigarettes.

to amplify the sound, so when people discover that one is wearing a hearing aid, why do they start to SHOUT?

Shouting into a hearing aid amplifies the sound to such a penetrating pitch it makes the wearer extremely nervous, and drives him up a wall. Thank you.

WEARSONE

DEAR WEARSONE: Here's your letter, and I hope it penetrates.

Folk Dance Demonstration At Library

If you are not part of the jet set, but would like to acquire the knowledge of an experienced traveller, studying the arts of other countries is very helpful.

Folk dancing is one art that can introduce you to several different cultures. Teachers of international folk dancing travel for years in search of new and interesting dances that they can bring back to America. Like the study of international cuisine, learning these dances is a cultural achievement.

On Thursday, at 7:30 p.m., Bill Stewart will be presenting a folk dance demonstration at the library. Stewart, who will soon begin teaching classes at the local YMCA, has been active in folk dancing programs and festivals in Central Ohio for many years. His program will include dances from a wide variety of countries. Two of his students will help him demonstrate these dances.

This program will be held in the reference room at the library. It will be of interest to both adults and children. There is no charge. Stewart is looking forward to this opportunity to get acquainted with the people and the town of Circleville.

Secretaries Assn.

Addressed By

Richard Gerhardt

RICHARD GERHARDT

Roundtown Chapter National Secretaries Assn. was addressed by Richard Gerhardt, attorney-at-law, during its January meeting in the Wardell Party Home. He spoke of wills and deeds telling of a number of things to look for in making out a will. An interesting question and answer period followed his talk.

The business meeting was presided over by Freda Collins, vice president. Committee reports were made by Sharon Reese, chairman of Secretaries Week; Dorothy Ann Evans, chairman of rules and by laws; Helen Burns, chairman of ways and means and Tillie Hanley said the organizations has purchased a camera for its own use.

Jennie Russell, president, presided over the remainder of the meeting attended by 25 members and three guests, Donna Strosnider, Mary Lake and Kathy Rhoads.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy R. Brown, Danny, Christopher, Theresa, Eric and James, have returned to their home in Columbus after a two week tour of Florida.

While there, they paid a visit to their niece and nephew, Craig and Dianne Brown at Ridge Manor and toured most points of interest in the state.

Mr. Brown is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Brown, former residents of Circleville.

tended by 18 members and three guests. The society will serve lunch at the Bowling Stock Yards on Jan. 24th and will serve the bloodmobile on March 22nd. It was reported that 45 cards were sent and 29 visits made during the month of December members.

Celebrating birthdays in January are, Mrs. Bruce Clark, Mrs. Clyde Cook Sr., Mrs. Kenneth Shepler and Mrs. Austin Wilson.

Mrs. Gilbert Wamsley was in charge of a program entitled "Prayer And Self-Denial." She asked each member to give their offering as a love offering and plant it like seed. She introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Vesta Wynkoop, prayer secretary for World Intercessors of the Oriental Missionary Society. Mrs. Wynkoop quoted Jeremiah 33:3 "Call unto me and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not."

Mrs. Wynkoop told of the rich young ruler, who felt the need of Jesus in his life, but he wasn't willing to deny himself to follow him. The rich young ruler, followed all the commandments and committed no known sin but he wasn't willing to give up all of his material possessions.

Mrs. Wynkoop urged her audience to be earnest with God. She told how important it is to be much in prayer. People are so busy and so occupied that they neglect their private devotions. They all want the prize but aren't willing to pay the price. Prayer is the key that unlocks the door of heaven. Nothing is too small or too large for God to take care of, she concluded.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Hoyt Timmons and Mrs. Keith Reeves.

Open House To Fete 90th Anniversary

Mrs. Laura Lindsey will be honored on her 90th Birthday Anniversary with an open house. The celebration will take place from 2-5 p.m. Jan. 21st at the Methodist Church in South Perry.

Mrs. Lindsey made her home in that community for many years preceding the death of her second husband, Earl Lindsey. She now is a resident of Lancaster.

Mrs. Lindsey is the mother of seven children: Mrs. Carl (Leota) Knepper, Lancaster; George O'Hara, Amanda; Henry O'Hara, Lancaster; Donald O'Hara, Amanda; Purl O'Hara, Texas; Mrs. Bernard McDowell (Catherine), Lancaster and Roy O'Hara, deceased. She has 18 grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild.

All of Mrs. Lindsey's family, friends and former neighbors are invited to share in the happy occasion. It is requested that there be no gifts.

'Paper Policeman' Nabs Crooks With Computer

MIAMI (AP) — Lochar Gracey and his team of self-styled "paper policemen" catch crooks with a computer code.

The code is called GACHA, an acronym for General Appearances of Criminals and their Habits Analyzed.

GACHA is part of the Miami Police Department's Criminal Information Center (CIC).

Gracey, the unit's commanding officer, is a 26-year veteran of the force. But, unlike most policemen, he doesn't mind all the paperwork his job entails.

"We solve crimes where we've never been on the scene," he said. "We can put together a picture of a criminal we've never seen."

Sgt. Robert Teachout, one of his men, agrees: "We are the paper policemen. But there's more excitement in this one little area than anywhere in the police station."

How does GACHA work? For example, take the gold-tooth file, which was inspired by an 18-year-old girl who got a traffic ticket. The policeman who pulled her over noticed she had a gold front tooth. He remembered that a female robber who had helped hold up four Miami finance companies also had a gold front tooth and was at large.

It turned out to be the same tooth and the same girl, Gracey said, and the CIC staff started thinking seriously about dentures. It occurred to one team member that another bandit sported gold teeth with diamond insets; still another group preferred stars.

Today the CIC files include an entire catalogue of known criminals, indexed according to types of gold teeth.

One crook got caught because CIC files noted he was left-handed, another because police paperwork kept up with his habit of buying a certain brand of cigarettes.

In police computer talk, GACHA tells the complete story of burglary with the numbers 129-007-042-056-171-161-250-300-337. In sequence, each group of three digits say that a clever but hungry housebreaker robbed an apartment house early one morning but stopped to break into a candy machine in the lobby before taking a slim tool and trying to force the lock on an apartment. The computer code then says he failed, broke in through a door, was careful to avoid leaving fingerprints, was familiar with the surroundings and brazen enough to turn on the television set and raid the refrigerator before leaving.

Teachout says that, someday, the computer may be coming up with probability curves, predicting the times and locations of crimes before they happen.

One such instance already has occurred, Gracey said. Two men were arrested by police last week and charged with robbing a convenience store several days earlier. They were arrested at a similar convenience store after GACHA predicted their next move.

Senate Footwork Under Way Among Top Ohio Democrats

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The race hasn't begun, but the footwork is already underway among Ohio Democrats jockeying at the starting line of the 1974 U.S. Senate race.

Former astronaut John H. Glenn, industrialist Howard M. Metzenbaum and former U.S. Sen. Steven M. Young have all expressed interest in the Democratic nomination.

Incumbent Sen. William B. Saxbe, a Republican, has been coy about his own intentions, although state GOP officials maintain he will be a formidable opponent for any of the Democratic trio.

Glenn and Metzenbaum, who battled for the 1970 nomination in an election finally won by the Republican, Robert Taft Jr., deny they'll base their 1974 plans on each other.

"I am not sitting around making my decision on what other people may or may not do," said Glenn, who said he was "assessing the race very closely right now."

"I hope we don't have a primary fight," said Metzenbaum, who came out on top by 13,500 votes out of 900,000 in the 1970 primary. "I would be happy to have John Glenn's support if I decide to run."

"But my decision will be made regardless of whom the others in the race may be. The apparent strength of my opposition has never deterred me before."

Young has been more vague about his plans, although insiders have said he has been considering candidacy with the possibility of a Glenn-Metzenbaum standoff.

Gov. John J. Gilligan, also a Democrat, has carefully refrained from choosing sides as the three jockey for position, although he said he would like to avoid a financially draining primary battle.

But "I promised all men that after my support of Muskie, I would not endorse any of them," Gilligan joked.

Gilligan had endorsed U.S. Sen. Edmund Muskie early in the 1972 presidential primaries.

Four Men Charged With Drunk Driving

Four men were arraigned for driving while intoxicated by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb Monday.

Mark S. Hite, 21, Grove City, and Arnold Shortridge, 40, Columbus, were fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and lost their driver's licenses for 6 months.

Valfred A. Fleming, 37, Mansfield, was fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in county jail and lost his license for a year.

Charles Blanton, 41, Route 1,

Williamsport, was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and lost his license for three years.

Blanton was also fined $100 and costs for driving while his license was under suspension for another DWI charge.

Ronald Caudill, 19, 155 E. Mound St., was fined $25 and costs, with the fine suspended, for driving with an expired operator's license.

Timothy L. Bower, 19, 479 N. Court St., forfeited $19 bond for defective exhaust.

$1 Million Libel Suit In Findlay

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—The service-safety director of Findlay is seeking more than $1 million in a suit against the city auditor and the editor of a local weekly newspaper.

Mrs. Maxine Radabaugh charges auditor Harold Smith and Gordon Hill, editor of the weekly TV Time, with libel, slander, and conspiring to deprive her of her civil rights.

Believed to be the first woman service-safety director in Ohio when appointed Jan. 1, 1972, Mrs. Radabaugh contends that the defendants, "for political, male supremacy and other purposes...set out in combination and individually to humiliate, disgrace, intimidate and disqualify me for the position..."

The suit was filed in Hancock County Common Pleas Court. According to the court filing, eight other defendants will be named in the action. Mrs. Radabaugh demands a jury trial.

She contends she has been followed by car and her home and office have been under surveillance by the defendants.

The two defendants named had no immediate comment on the suit.

Emmett Chapel Men Meet

The United Methodist Men of Emmett Chapel met Jan. 4 in the social rooms of the church with 12 members and two guests present.

The Rev. Raymond Welch offered thanks before the meal that was served by the women of the church. Hoyt Timmons, president, opened the meeting with prayer and read scripture from the book of Luke. The men joined in singing songs. Shelves are to be purchased and installed in the supply room by the group.

Services were held Sunday at Pickaway Manor with Robert Bauer in charge. Clyde Cook Jr. will be in charge of services Jan. 29.

Officers for the coming year are: Hoyt Timmons, president; Don Leist, vice president; Jack Cook, secretary; Robert Valentine, treasurer; Howard Smith, special events; Clyde Cook and Don Meyers, attendance and membership; Charles Wellman, program; Don Meyers, projects; Marvin Rittinger, publicity; Dan Conkle, spiritual life chairman.

Prayer was held for the sick and those confined in the hospital. Robert Valentine closed the meeting with prayer. The next meeting will be held Feb. 1.

Campus Notes

NED RIEGEL

Ned Riegel has been named the 1972-73 recipient of the Rio Grande College Faculty Assn. Scholarship.

A senior majoring in mathematics, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Riegel, Route 3. He was also recently selected one of the college's 15 students to appear in the 1972 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Riegel is a member of Chi Beta Phi, a national honorary science fraternity, and serves on the Student Judiciary at Rio Grande.

Sharon L. Douglas Wilamowski, 371 Clark Drive, received a master degree in education in December from the University of Akron. Mrs. Wilamowski is an employee of the Circleville City School System.

David P. Leist, 430 Brown St., is among 23 Otterbein College students selected for listing in the 1973 edition of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

The "Who's Who" publication is an annual registry of outstanding men and women on campus with biographical data, which also notes their scholastic achievements and individual awards.

Otterbein nominees are first selected by faculty, administrative staff and presidents of organizations. Final selections are made by the Campus Affairs Committee.

MARSHA HOFFMAN

Marsha Hoffman graduated Dec. 4 from Career Academy, Columbus, in the dental assisting program.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hoffman, 621 Garden Parkway, she was awarded the Certificate of Proficiency and Certificate of Recognition for completing dental assisting services in dental offices. This was done on a volunteer basis in order to further her knowledge in the field of dental assisting.

Miss Hoffman is a 1972 graduate of Circleville High School.

Ohio State University placed seventh in the 42nd international Meat Judging Contest Nov. 28 in Madison, Wis. Twenty teams competed with Kansas State University and the University of South Dakota placing first and second respectively.

The Ohio State team included Michael Bayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bayes, Route 2, Orient.

Ohio State placed second in the beef grading competition, seventh in the lamb judging and third in the beef judging.

Michael Rittinger, Route 5, was among graduates receiving degrees at the Dec. 15 commencement at the Ohio State University.

Michael majored in animal science and was awarded the bachelor degree from the College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Rittinger, Michael now plans to enter farming.

The College of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minn. recently conferred degrees upon 110 candidates in December, including Gregory Michael Trecker, Route 5.

Trecker was presented a Bachelor of Arts degree.

The Marietta College Dean's List for the first semester of 1972-73 includes three students from Circleville and one from Williamsport. They are:

Thomas Bowers, 921 Circle Drive, sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bowers.

Mary Beth Rhoads, 587 Northridge Road, sophomore, daughter of Franklin Rhoads.

Carole A. Wylie, 369 Markley Drive, sophomore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Richard Wylie.

Andy R. Hamman, Route 2, Williamsport, senior, son of George Hamman.

To qualify for the Dean's List, students must compile a 3.0 or "B" average in at least 12 hours of work.

Sue Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertus Bennett, 580 Springhollow Road, has been named to the Fall Quarter Dean's List at Ohio University with a 3.4 grade point average.

Sue is a sophomore, majoring in elementary education. While at Ohio University, she has been active in the College of Education's College Council.

Valerie Valentine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Valentine, 486 E. Franklin St., is on the Dean's List at Baldwin-Wallace College for a fall quarter with a 3.7 average.

Valerie is a senior, vice president of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority, member of Kappa Delta Pi honorary in education, and Laurels, a Baldwin-Wallace honor society.

She is also student representative of the Commission on Higher Education of the United Methodist Church of Ohio, speaking to youth groups throughout Ohio.

Bill McFerren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leighton McFerren, 439 Watt St., recently graduated from United Electronics Institute, Cuyahoga Falls and has accepted employment with Collins Radio at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. He left New Years Day for his new position.

Klara Tammany, Circleville performed at the traditional candlelight service Dec. 14 presented by the St. Gregory Choir of Stuart Hall, a girls school in Staunton, Va.

Miss Tammany performed on a recorder.

A Circleville student was among four honored for "recognition for outstanding work" in undergraduate competition in geology and mineralogy. Receiving the citation was Michael L. Grant, Route 2.

Karen S. Foster, a freshman, was named to the Dean's List at Ohio Northern University for the fall quarter. Miss Foster is majoring in French studies.

At Bowling Green University, fall quarter Honors students include Lee

Phase 3 Expenses To Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Phase 2 wage and price controls cost the country about $95 million during the 14 months they were in effect, the government says.

But Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said Monday the costs of Phase 3, which was announced last week, should be less.

The Phase 2 costs included $62.7 million in expenses for the Internal Revenue Service, which was responsible for enforcing the controls that were put into effect on Nov. 14, 1971.

The Justice Department spent about $3.7 million and the remaining funds were spent by the Pay Board, the Price Commission and the Cost of Living Council, the agencies set up to administer the controls.

Shultz said it is hoped the control bureaucracy under Phase 3 can be reduced from 4,000 to 2,000. Phase 3 is a new system of both mandatory and voluntary restraints on wages and prices.

The Phase 1 wage-price freeze cost about $1.3 million during 90 days it was in effect.

The administration also said Monday it would make the new wage-price chief, John T. Dunlop, available for questioning by Congress and for confirmation by the Senate. Dunlop, a Harvard economist, is expected to replace Donald Rumsfeld as director of the Cost of Living Council later this month.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Warmer weather is in store for Ohio for the next few days. The cold, high pressure system that had dominated the state's weather since the first week of the new year has given way to warmer, southwesterly winds.

A low pressure trough extending coast-to-coast across southern Canada was not expected to have much effect on Ohio's weather.

Skies were cloudy over the state this morning and temperatures ranged from 27 at Youngstown to 39 at Cincinnati.

The clouds were expected to break up today, beginning over western Ohio this morning. Highs in the upper 40s and low 50s were forecast for this afternoon.

The warming trend will continue Wednesday with highs ranging from the 50s to low 60s across the state. Cooler weather is forecast late in the week.

Troop Strength Drops

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troop strength in Vietnam dropped 200 men to a total of 23,800 last week, the same level as in January 1965, the U.S. Command reported today.

Jolliffe and Susan Lane Huskey, Miss Jolliffe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Jolliffe, 270 Walnut Creek Pike, earned a 3.78 grade average. She is a sophomore.

Also a sophomore, Miss Huskey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Huskey, 322 Meadow Lane. She earned a 3.5 average for the term.

Kirk Brown, son of Lois Brown, 898 S. Court, and George Brown, Wilson Trailer Court, has entered the winter quarter at Ohio University, Athens. His address is: Parks Hall, room 210.

Pomp, Ceremony Readied For Nixon Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon renews his oath of office Saturday in the 44th inauguration of a president of the United States.

It is an event which requires only that the president-elect swear, as did George Washington 184 years ago, to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution.

But most presidents have made it an occasion as well to outline their major goals and appeal for unity. President John F. Kennedy called the inauguration "not a victory of party, but a celebration of freedom."

And it is, even by Washington standards, a rather spectacular celebration at that. A massive stand and nearly 20,000 seats are ready for the President, members of Congress, and other invited guests at the Capitol site. Thousands—perhaps hundreds of thousands—will line the President's parade route.

Congress appropriated $650,000 for the inauguration itself, but related activities may boost the over-all price tag to $4 million.

Some $12,000, for example, is allocated for emergency snow removal. Tradition demands an outdoor inauguration even though one president, William Henry Harrison, caught pneumonia and died a month later.

All but four of the 36 presidents have been sworn in at the Capitol.

Washington's first was on the balcony of Federal Hall, John Adams' was in the Hall of Congress in Philadelphia and John Tyler and Andrew Johnson chose private ceremonies in Washington hotels.

But no matter what the setting or how festive it may be, President Nixon's second inauguration likely will be remembered most—as those before him—for what the People's Choice has to say.

New Leaders Crop Up In Prep Cage Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Two of the three divisions in The Associated Press Ohio high school basketball poll have new leaders this week.

Hamilton Taft moved alongside Cleveland East Tech for the Class AAA lead, while Waverly seized the top spot in Class AA in statewide balloting by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South, the defending Class A state tournament king, continued to ride in front of the smallest class.

Hamilton Taft, 1962 Ohio tournament champion, jumped from second place last week to tie the Scarabs at 175 points apiece. East Tech is also a former Ohio tournament titlist, winning in 1958, 1959 and 1972.

Taft has won 11 of 12 games and East Tech is twice beaten in 12 contests.

Columbus Ready, the defending Class A tournament winner and the opening poll leader last week, tumbled all the way to third place with a 9-2 record and 157 points.

Waverly, gliding along at 9-0, piled up 188 points to move up from second place. Rossford, fourth a week ago, earned 173 points for the No. 2 spot this time. Rossford is 12-0.

Indian Valley South, unscathed in nine games this season, collected 228 points for a 15-point margin over 11-0 Marion Pleasant, the Class A football playoff champion.

Every member of the top tens last week joined the elite again, although there was some minor shuffling.

Mansfield Senior, Newark and Springfield South held the No. 3, 4 and 5 spots in Class AAA while Canton Lehman leaped from ninth to sixth.

Rounding out the top ten were Middletown in seventh, Barborton in eighth, Columbus South in ninth and Boardman in tenth.

Steubenville Catholic was fourth in Class AA followed by, in order, Willard, Huron, Poland, Lancaster Fairfield Union, Albany Alexander and Gallipolis.

Fort Recovery retained the third spot in Class A and then came Wapakoneta St. Joseph, Sebring, Zanesville Rosecrans, Fostoria St. Wendelin, McDonald, Strasburg and Latham Western, in that order.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Here's how The Associated Press statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school basketball teams this week (10 points for first to 1 point for tenth):

Interleague Baseball Play Could Be Approved By '74

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Cleveland Plain Dealer reported in its Tuesday morning editions that interleague baseball play is expected to be approved by 1974 once owners and the Players Association reach better accord.

The newspaper said the nearness of interleague play was revealed by an unnamed American League source. The AL reportedly is already in favor of the move.

The interleague play would be a compromise proposal that would add six more games to the current 162-game schedule, thus meeting the National League's unwillingness to eliminate any NL games for the interleague play, the newspaper said.

The Plain Dealer said the six games would be home and away series between "natural" interleague rivals.

Since the proposal calls for increasing the number of games in a season, however, it is bound to run into opposition from the Players Association, which has wanted to cut even the current number, the newspaper said.

The newspaper said its AL source confided that owners and the association were currently deadlocked on only two issues but that once those were cleared up, the proposal was expected to receive players' approval.

"When it is settled, I'm sure the committee to study interleague play...will make the proposal to increase the schedule by six games. The appeal will be made to (Marvin) Miller and the Players Association on the basis of what's good for baseball and we think, on that basis, Miller will give his approval."

The source said that the "two issues" holding up negotiations were the reserve clause and a players' demand that contractual disputes be submitted to arbitration after a period of time.

He said that "language can be drawn on the reserve clause that will be acceptable to both sides," but he said he doubted that owners would surrender to the arbitration demand.

"There's no way absolutely no way—that we can agree to arbitration if we're going to stay in business," he told the Plain Dealer.

Dolphins Win; 15th In Poll

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

They're in a different sport but they share the same nickname and that's enough to make Jacksonville's Dolphins act every bit as super as the football variety from Miami.

Jacksonville, ranked 15th in The Associated Press poll of college basketball teams, rolled to a 96-64 victory over Pan American Monday night. Butch Taylor led the romp with 25 points as the Dolphins ran their season's record to 12-2 with their seventh consecutive victory.

Most of the teams at the top of The AP rankings took Monday night off but No. 8 Missouri, No. 11 Alabama, No. 13 Southwestern Louisiana, and Jacksonville all were in action.

UCLA continues to lead the rankings but for the first time, the Bruins were not the unanimous choice of the sports writers and broadcasters for the No. 1 slot.

UCLA, undefeated in 57 consecutive games, received all but one first place vote, and totaled 778 points. The other first place ballot went to unbeaten North Carolina State, ranked second after 11 straight victories this season. Maryland, 10-0 through the period covered by the poll but beaten Sunday by NC State, is No. 3.

North Carolina jumped to fourth place, followed by Long Beach State, Minnesota, Marquette, Missouri, Providence and San Francisco to complete the Top 10.

Of that group, only Missouri saw action Monday night and the Tigers would have been smarter to take the night off like the other members of the first 10. Beaten for the first time Saturday night following 12 straight victories, the Tigers dropped another, bowing to Colorado, 81-79 in overtime.

To their credit, however, they didn't go down without a battle.

Colorado had to come from behind four times in the extra period to overtake Missouri. Lee Haven had six points in the extra period for the winners after combining with Scott Wedman to help Colorado wipe out an 11-point deficit in regulation time.

Missouri, guilty of 31 turnovers, almost won the game anyway. Steve Blind tied the score at 72 with 48 seconds left but then missed a free throw with 11 seconds left that would have put the Tigers on top.

Haven finished with 28 points and Wedman had 23 for the Buffaloes, now 5-8 for the season.

The Top Twenty, with firstplace votes in parentheses, season records through games of Saturday and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1. UCLA (38)	12-0	778
2. N. Carolina St. (1)	11-0	674
3. Maryland	10-0	571
4. North Carolina	13-1	446

Bill Bradley Named To All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Bradley has been selected by the East Coaches to play in the National Basketball Association's All-Star Game at Chicago on Jan. 23 for the first time in his career, it was announced today by NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy.

Bradley will be joined by Elvin Hayes of Baltimore; Jo Jo White of Boston; John Block from Philadelphia; Jack Marin of Houston and Bob Kauffman as substitutes for the East Squad.

The West coaches selected Chet Walker of the Chicago Bulls; Dave Bing and Bob Lanier of Detroit; Gail Goodrich of Los Angeles; Nate Thurmond of Golden State; and Bob Dandridge of Milwaukee.

Coach Tom Heinsohn will have an East squad loaded with strong cornermen to cope with Coach Bill Sharman's more balanced squad. The West will have a height advantage up front but the East has the edge in the back court.

The East will open with John Havlicek and Dave DeBusschere at the forwards, Dave Cowens at center, and Walt Frazier and Pete Maravich at the guards. Lenny Wilkens, Lou Hudson and Wes Unseld complete the squad.

The West will counter with Spencer Haywood and Rick Barry at the forwards, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar at center, and Jerry West and Nate Archibald at the guards. Sidney Wicks and Wilt Chamberlain round out the West squad. West and Laker teammate Wilt Chamberlain were selected to play for the 13th time, tying Bob Cousy, the all-time leader.

Bill Bradley, John Block and Pete Maravich of the East squad and Nate Archibald, Charlie Scott and Bob Dandridge of the West squad will all be playing in their first allstar game.

Bearcats Coach Hopeful Team Will Regain Form

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Bearcats Coach Gale Catlett asks only that his sometimes highly-touted basketball team promptly applies lessons learned in its disappointing season.

Basically the same UC team that finished the 1971-72 season in a blaze has slumped to a 7-6 record in a season Catlett says has been marked by "individual" play and a lack of top effort by one or two people.

"If we have learned by the way we have played, it'll be okay and I'll be satisfied at the end of the year," the first-year UC coach said. "But if we keep sputtering around, I'll be very disappointed."

"I'll be very disappointed if we don't start getting things together, because I think we can."

Cincinnati won 10 of its last 12 games last season including contests over Florida State, Southwestern Louisiana and Jacksonville. The Bearcats knocked over Pennsylvania this season but lost to Southwestern Louisiana and Florida State after first leading. It also dropped a game to unheralded Rice.

Catlett, who played on standout West Virginia University teams in the early 1960s and climbed to assistant coach under Adolph Rupp at Kentucky last season, blames individual performances and himself for UC's troubles.

"They are sort of like freshmen, new players, going through a learning process because they have a new coach," Catlett said.

Catlett has been openly critical lately of one player, Lloyd Batts, an agile and talented shooting junior often labeled a potential college "superstar" and a leading prospect for professional basketball.

Batts, disciplined for a curfew violation last week, hasn't played up to his potential in a couple of recent games, Catlett said.

Green Leads KC-Omaha Over 76ers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The oldest player in the National Basketball did his thing again Monday night. At 39, Johnny Green scored a season high total of 20 points in leading the Kansas City-Omaha Kings to a 135-108 victory over the Philadelphia 76'ers.

Green scored 12 points in the first six minutes of the third period to increase the Kings lead to 30 over the hapless 76ers. Nate Archibald, leading the league in both scoring and assists, scored 30 points and handed out 14 assists.

In other NBA action, the Detroit Pistons beat the Portland Trail Blazers 112-101. In the only game scheduled in the American Basketball Association, the Utah Stars thumped the Carolina Cougars 128-110.

The Pistons snapped a threegame losing streak with some fourth period help from Dave Bing and Bob Lanier. Lanier scored 24 points and snared 22 rebounds while Bing led all scorers with 31.

The Trail Blazers, who lost their 10th game in their last 13 outings, were paced by Sidney Wicks with 29 points.

In the battle of the ABA Division leaders, Utah stopped Carolina behind the scoring of Zelmo Beaty, Ron Boone and Willie Wise.

The Stars bolted to a 66-47 halftime lead and Beaty's 26-point spree in the second half maintained that lead throughout the second half.

Racing Events Announced At Cycle Trails

The racing season at Cycle Trails Moto Park on State Route 180 between Laurelville and Adelphi starts Sunday with a motorcycle "Hare Scrambles" amateur race.

"Hare Scrambles" is very popular as a winter sport for the motorcycle enthusiast and is similar to "Motocross" racing except that the track is less defined, less prepared and about twice the length of the motocross track. Also, in "Hare Scrambles" all classes of motorcycles ride at the same time instead of in separate groups.

Trophies are then awarded to the top riders in each class with a special "high point" trophy being awarded. The race starts at 1 p.m. and lasts about two hours.

The following events are scheduled at Cycle Trails for the 1973 season:

Jan. 21 — Hare Scrambles
May 6 — National Professional Motocross Qualifier Race, $1,800 purse
May 13 — Amateur Motocross
May 27 — National Professional Class A & B Hillclimb
June 10 — Amateur Motocross
July 8 — Amateur Motocross
Aug. 12 — Amateur Motocross
Sept. 16 — Amateur Motocross
Oct. 21 — Amateur Motocross

These events are all sanctioned by The American Motorcycle Association. The Saltcreek Valley Motorcycle Club is sponsoring the amateur events at the Cycle Trails Moto Park. John P. Karshner II is the president of the club made up of riders from the South Central Ohio Area.

Mail Order Firm's Mail Resumed

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A Cincinnati-based mail order firm, which the government charges with basing its business on fraudulent claims, has regained its privilege of receiving mail.

Judge Timothy Hogan of U.S. District Court here Monday refused to order that the mail of Market Development Corp. be detained any longer. He termed an injunction "a drastic remedy" which should be invoked "only in a drastic situation."

He said that is not the situation in the Market's case.

Hogan's decision came only 10 minutes after expiration of a temporary restraining order issued Jan. 8 to detain the company's mail.

Hogan asked the company and the government to present "a finding of facts" in the case by next Monday.

An assistant U.S. Attorney said the company does a $15,000 - a-day business and uses such methods as marketing a discount food coupon it claims is worth $47. The attorney said the coupon allows only $4.84 in discounts.

The company also advertises sewing machines at a "discount" price, but they are sold at, or above, the normal market price, the attorney said.

FCC Member Talks At King Memorial

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — A Federal Communications Commission member says the nation "failed to face the problems of black and white relationships" at the time of the Civil War and "is doing the same thing today."

Benjamin Hooks made the statement Monday during an observance in honor of the late civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. at Miami University.

IL Votes To Adopt Pinch-Hitter Rule

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The general managers of the International League have voted 6-2 to adopt baseball's pinch-hitter rule for a one-year trial.

In addition, the managers Monday voted to divide the league into two divisions, one called the American and one the national.

Steve Sloan Leads To Succeed Pace

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Steve Sloan, an assistant football coach at Georgia Tech, appears to be the leading candidate to succeed Bill Pace, who resigned Monday as Vanderbilt head coach.

Charley Thornton, assistant athletic director at Alabama, is a prime candidate for Commodore athletic director, a position Pace also held.

You might say Earl Heiskala does the things the hard way.

Heiskala knocked in the winning goal—an 80-footer—as the Los Angeles Sharks defeated the Alberta Oilers 4-3 in the World Hockey Association Monday night.

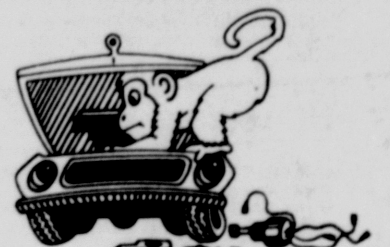

Heiskala, who scored twice, took a pass and then hit the shot that dropped in front of Alberta netminder Jack Norris, bounced up, hit the goaltender's stick and then slipped through his pads.

Offer Received For Olympic Games

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The International Olympic Committee announced Monday that it received offers from Salt Lake City; Innsbruck; Chamonix, France, and Tampere, Finland to stage the 1976 Winter Games following the withdrawal of Denver.

The Committee's nine-member executive board, headed by IOC President Lord Killanin of Ireland, will meet on Feb. 4 and make the final choice.

Super Bowls as the losing coach. "I don't think I could have stood for banquet emcees to introduce me by saying, 'Here's that three-time loser.'" He doesn't have to worry about that anymore. All he's got to worry about is living up to the title, "Most Perfect Coach."

"This is a totally unfamiliar experience," he said jokingly as he began his press conference Tuesday, the taste of the 14-7 victory over the Redskins still sweet. Then suddenly, he turned serious, almost bitter, as he thought of Carroll Rosenbloom, the former owner of the Baltimore Colts who now owns the Los Angeles Rams.

"It's especially nice to win the Super Bowl in the backyard of the guy who said I couldn't win the big game ... his saying that I freeze up in the big ones is just another in a three-year series of brutal attacks on me and my family."

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day of changes and new arrangements. It is necessary that most everyone remain objective to avoid becoming so sensitive that feelings are hurt and a pouting attitude prevents productive results. Improve home surroundings. Please bigwigs.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Look around your home and make those repairs that are necessary quickly and well. Do whatever will create more harmony there. Avoid newcomers who have an eye on your assets.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Shop with care and be careful you are not shortchanged and do not leave purse or wallet where others can pick it up. A letter you may receive could prove disappointing, but it is not so bad. Take it easy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Try to add to your savings account instead of spending money more lavishly, as you are tempted to do to your detriment. Making repairs to home is wise. Add to its value and comfort.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take the time to make yourself more attractive so you leave a fine impression on others. Get out to your favorite beauty shop or barber. The evening can bring fine results socially.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You had better get busy on unfinished duties instead of jumping into new outlets that you know little about as yet. A good pal needs your assistance. Be sure to give it generously. Take it easy in p.m.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have a fine friend who will help you put some plan across successfully, so be sure to accept aid given you. Later, repay social obligations that are important. Avoid one whose thinking is negative.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Handle civic affairs well and show you are an absolutely A-1 citizen. You have to get new equipment if you don't to handle some vocational work particularly well. Don't labor under an unnecessary handicap.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) This is the right day to get some new idea rolling that can bring you added income, revenue. Make new and efficient associates who can be most helpful to you. Drive away fear and be more sure of yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study those monetary responsibilities well and handle them with intelligence today. Don't neglect taxes and insurance. An expert can give right pointers about new investments you are considering.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use tact and courtesy in dealing with partners today since they are in a very peevish mood. Show you are objective where needed changes are concerned. A little firmness is wise there.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) There is plenty of work ahead of you and this suits you to a T, since you like nothing better than to be gainfully employed. Describe your plan to co-workers so they understand it and can work along with you intelligently. Relax tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Having a good time is fine today provided you do not bring people together who do not like each other, so stick to congenials. Some creative idea you have needs a little revision for more success with it. Work some tonight.

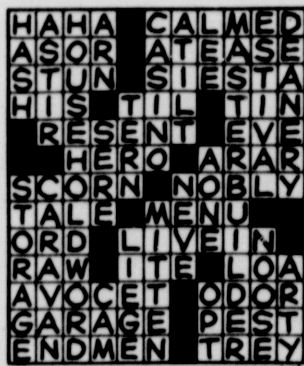

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those very cooperative young people if you teach early not to be so sensitive and self-absorbed that others will barely want to say hello to your progeny. If you make sure the diet is right, this can be very helpful. There is a good mind here that needs the right kind of education, which should be slanted toward such things as building, selling, engineering, beauty culture, etc. Not very good at sports.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Views On TV And Radio

NEW YORK (AP)—"Bonanza" which quietly arrived more than 13 years ago in the heyday of television Westerns, ends its career tonight on the NBC Television network after 430 original performances.

Its last hurrah is called "The Hunter," a teleplay written and directed by Michael Landon, who has been Bonanza's "Little Joe" since the series began Sept. 12, 1959.

At that time it was a shaky entry in a field of 32 Westerns then on the air. They had rugged names like "Tombstone Territory," "Restless Gun," U.S. Marshal, "Rough Riders," "The Texan" and "Wagon Train." Some of the stars in the Westerns went on to movies or new series in different settings—Clint Eastwood of "Rayhide," Hugh O'Brien of "Wyatt Earp" and Gene Barry of "Bat Masterson."

But the original cast of "Bonanza" remained in what proved to be a sturdy, close-knit sagebrush stock company that stayed intact until 1965, when Pernell Roberts quit the show.

It was further reduced in mid-1972 when Dan Blocker, the huge gentle man viewers knew as Hoss Cartwright, died and left Lorne Greene and Landon as the last of the original Cartwrights.

"Bonanza" remained a durable attraction on NBC throughout the years, doing battle against both bad men and good series on opposing networks. It became part of American television's folklore.

It remained that way until last September when it was pitted against a loud-mouthed lady called "Maude," who did her thing on the CBS Television network.

The ratings for "Bonanza" dropped dramatically despite a good start. NBC decided in late November to put the show out to pasture.

The pasture will be lucrative. With 430 original shows in the can, "Bonanza" will ride television's rerun range and earn millions of dollars for years to come.

But when it goes off NBC at 9 p.m. EST tonight, there'll be only three Western series left from 32 shoot-em-ups of 1959.

Two began this year. They are NBC's monthly "Hec Ramsey" shows about a turn of the century lawman and ABC's "Kung Fu," a Chinese Western that becomes a weekly series as of this Thursday.

The last really is television's Old West—CBS' "Gunsmoke," whose cast began preserving law, order, medicine and whisky on behalf of Dodge City back in 1955.

Tarlton Native Named To Health Post In Florida

AT NEW JOB — Marshall R. Spangler and Mrs. Hazel Spangler, husband and wife team, look over a microfilm health history card at Inter-Medic Health Center in Port Charlotte. They developed the color code system, national in scope, which provides pocket-sized microfilm records. The records contain information that can be used by doctors anywhere in the country.

Marshall R. Spangler, health systems consultant and information scientist formerly with the University of Missouri School of Medicine, has just been appointed project director for the Charlotte County, Florida, Health Maintenance Organization.

His selection was approved by Dr. G. A. Reich of the Atlanta office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Under a federal H.M.O. grant from H.E.W. Spangler, 57, a native of Pickaway County, Ohio, and his associates are filing incorporation papers for the Charlotte Health Care Plan, Inc., a not-for-profit group.

The Plan eventually will offer a legally instituted benefit "package" of health care on a prepaid basis both for individuals and corporations. Special attention will center on preventative medicine. Incorporation will climax an 18-month demographic, economic and sociological study of the rapidly growing Port Charlotte area, originally a retirement mecca now a thriving total community.

The Charlotte research was launched in July, 1971, through a $55,000 allotment from H.E.W. to Health Facilities Research, Inc. The results were promising and the state legislature passed new laws to set guidelines for H.M.O.'s in cooperation with the Department of Health. A new grant of $104,000 in July, 1972, permitted the next step, organizing the Charlotte Health Care Plan which could become a model for other H.M.O.'s in the state.

Health Facilities Research Inc. will continue to operate as a link to seek federal assistance when needed for future studies.

Port Charlotte is located 28 miles north of Fort Myers and 45 miles south of Sarasota in the heart of Southwest Florida's population explosion. It is the largest of eight new communities now being built on both the east and west coasts by General Development Corporation.

Fifteen years ago cattle roamed the ranges along the Tamiami Trail (U.S. 41). Today Port Charlotte and its twin, North Port Charlotte, have reached the 23,500 mark with census projections forecasting a doubling in size in the next decade. Port Charlotte also is the home of the nationally known, million-dollar Cultural Center which includes the Port Charlotte University, and adult educational facility affectionately called PCU, a library, a 420-seat auditorium for movies, concerts and the Little Theater and a new Senior Lounge manned by 1,000 volunteers.

PCU, operated by the Adult Education Association of Charlotte County, has more than 2,700 students attending over 150 classes a week. Courses range in variety from literature, economics, history, world affairs, health forums and arts and crafts to "How to Play Golf" and "How to Think Like a Florida Fish."

Spangler joined the Port Charlotte saga in June, 1971, when a group of doctors sought guidance in developing and implementing a health data and information system. He organized a color code data system providing portable microfilmed health history cards for clients. Marketing is now national in scope. The microfilm with the complete health record will fit in a pocket-size wallet for emergency use of doctors anywhere in the country.

As a member of the University of Missouri faculty, Spangler has a background of 15 years in communications technology. The goal is to train young doctors in computers, data processing, and research and encourage preventative medicine.

Spangler was born in Pickaway County, near Tarlton, and 10 miles from Circleville, the son of William I. Spangler, the inventor of automatic clay pigeon targets for skeet shooting. Spangler Sr. operated the Spangler Manufacturing Co. in Dayton. One year, father and son were cochampions at the American Trapshooting tournament in Vandalia, Ohio.

Young Spangler won a scholarship to Otterbein College, studied premedic and pretheological subjects at Otterbein College and Ohio State with his goal to become a medical missionary.

Then followed a long career in which he was identified with the U.S. Public Health Service, as an industrial engineer with Curtiss-Wright in Columbus during World War II, later with the military intelligence division of the Fifth Army at Fort Hayes and the 444th Strategic Intelligence team in North Africa. In the Fifties and Sixties he turned to information science, particularly with the Arizona State University in Tempe, Ariz., and then

Corona Jury Deadlocked

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP) — The jury in the Juan Corona mass murder trial has reported an 8-4 deadlock, but the panel has been ordered to continue trying to reach a verdict.

Judge Richard E. Patton instructed the jurors on Monday not to reveal whether the majority favors conviction or acquittal for Corona, who is charged with the slayings of 25 men.

After 28 hours of jury deliberations in four days, jury foreman Ernest Phillips told the court, "We have reached what appears to be an impasse. We cannot decide one way or the other about the guilt or innocence."

Patton ordered the jurors in the 14-week trial to continue their efforts and not to report back before noon today.

Corona, 38, was expressionless as the announcement was made in a makeshift courtroom at the state medical facility in Vacaville, where he has been recuperating from heart trouble since Friday night. Because he was considered too ill to be moved to the Fairfield courtroom, the judge ordered the jury bused eight miles to the Vacaville facility to make the announcement. It was the first the jury knew of Corona's illness.

Corona, a Mexican citizen and a farm labor contractor, is charged with murdering 25 farm workers and drifters whose hacked and stabbed bodies were unearthed in a peach orchard north of Yuba City in the spring of 1971. It is the largest single mass murder charge in U. S. history.

Patton urged the jury not to "sacrifice your honest convictions" simply because they may be opposed to the majority. Do not violate your individual judgment."

Prosecutor G. Dave Teja said in case of a hung jury, a second trial would be automatic.

Health Care Study Group To Be Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A task force to study health care in Ohio will be appointed in the next few weeks by Gov. John Gilligan, a spokesman for the governor said Monday.

The spokesman said the group would be a broadly-based citizen group that will study all areas of health care and will be concerned with "more than just the costs" of health care.

with the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo.

Mrs. Spangler, the former Hazel Nelson, was the daughter of Clarence Nelson, a Saginaw, Mich. manufacturer. A trained nurse and graduate of the Miami Valley Hospital in Dayton, she was the other half of the Spangler man-wife team developing the color code health cards. They were married by Norman Vincent Peale at the New York Dutch Reformed Church Feb. 18, 1939, and have two children — Moray Spangler, an ordained minister who is dean of Findhorn College in Moray, Scotland, a daughter, Nancy, is a dental hygienist now married to David Gettinger, a Sarasota computer.

Spangler had expected to return to the University of Missouri until the H.M.O. challenge presented itself. He now feels he has returned to his first love, an ambition to become a medical missionary. This he hopes to achieve in putting together the ingredients of a health plan acceptable to the medical profession as well as the community-at-large.

In Port Charlotte, the Spanglers live at 817 N.E. Beacon Drive.

OSPE SPEAKERS—Guest speakers at the southern Ohio Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers were: Raymond Peterson (left), Toledo, president of the Engineers Foundation of Ohio and of Peterson Tooling Co., and Fred Stine (right) assistant vice president of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.

Local OSPE Chapter Gives To Foundation

The Southern Ohio Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers recently held its January meeting at Pickaway Arms. Walter Yamarick was host.

In conjunction with the meeting, the chapter also sponsored a fund raising dinner for the benefit of the Engineers Foundation of Ohio, an establishment of the Ohio Society for promoting engineering through continuing education, career guidance and scholarships. Various business organizations in our area participated in the event.

The guest speaker for the evening was Fred Stine, assistant vice president of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. He talked on the present energy crisis and its effect on power generation. He also elaborated on the environmental aspect and its relations to the fuel shortage.

Later in the program Raymond Peterson, Toledo, gave some brief remarks about the Engineers Foundation of Ohio, of which he is president. Peterson is also president of the Peterson Tooling Co.

The February meeting for the local chapter will be held in Chillicothe.
